STAMMERING PRIDE & PREJUDICE: DIFFERENCE NOT DEFECT

This workshop is for speech and language therapists who want to learn more about the social model of disability and stammering pride in a shared and collaborative learning environment. This event is spread over two 2.5 hr modules (5 hours of learning)

COURSE CONTENT

- The contribution of the medical model, the social model and neurodiversity to our understanding of stammering
- Structural, attitudinal, and environmental barriers present in today's society that impact people who stammer across the ages
- How public and self-stigma intertwine to oppress people who stammer inside and outside of therapy
- The concept and basis of stammering gain and pride
- A discussion around ways people who stammer, speech and language therapists and researchers can come together from different perspectives to help liberate the stammered voice
